

Held as a witness . . .

(Corr.) - Now and then there is a “case” that many people talk about. Right now, it is that of the Dominican diplomat Cesare Rubirosa, uncovered following the forced landing in Greece of a plane piloted by the young Neuchâtel pilot Gérard de Chambrier.

What part did the Neuchâtel pilot - who has been held in Greece since the middle of October - play in this story? His cousin, whom we interviewed yesterday, told us that he had received news from the Greek judicial authorities that no charges could be brought against Gérard de Chambrier and that he was simply being held as a witness.
