Full Moon in Key West

Full moon over Key West tonight.

My lifelong "soul mate", dearheart Candace, in her inimitable, poetic way, writes me today to say four full moons cast their light in our skies between the Solstice of June 2013 and the Equinox of September 2013.

This renders tonight's Full Moon a "Blue Moon".....Candace adds, with a touch of magical thinking, that my Cuba Swim may become reality: "So if there's ever been time for 'once in a blue moon'....this could be it!"

Thank you, Candace....for always whispering the right words, at the right time, past the moon and to my ears!!
