Every Stroke Hurts. Every Breath Heals.

The Other Shore follows world record holder and legendary swimmer Diana Nyad, 63, as she comes out of a thirty-year retirement to re-attempt an elusive dream: swimming 103 miles non-stop from Cuba to Florida without the use of a shark cage.

For the fourth year, we offer our Xtreme Dream T-Shirts, caps and wristbands available on our website as of this week.

First year was white, 2nd year baby blue, 3rd year navy...and this year, in homage to the mesmerizing color of the powerful and somewhat mystical Gulf Stream, our color is SAPPHIRE.

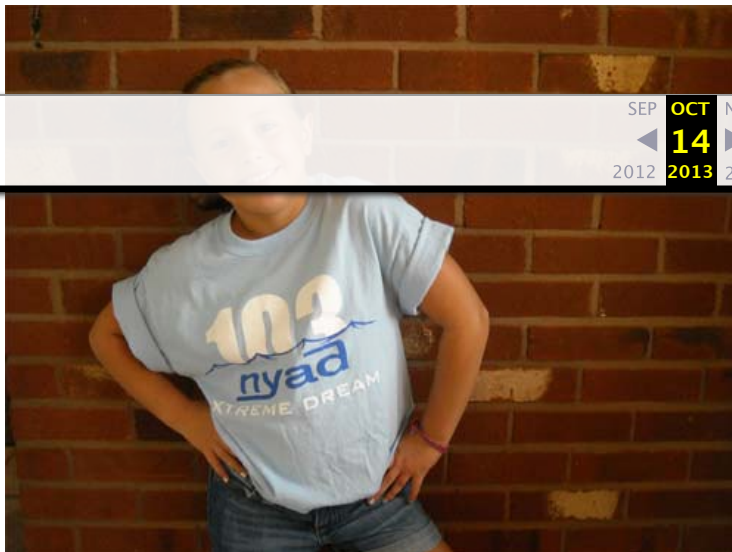

I asked a little girl wearing her Xtreme Dream T-Shirt last year what that expression meant. She took a long pause to think about her answer. Then she said: "Well, an Xtreme Dream is probably impossible." Then she paused again to contemplate, and added: "But it just might be possible."

About this capture

I LOVE it when I see all of you wearing your shirts...and caps. From fans on the streets of NYC to people showing up at my appearances all across the country to golden retrievers in our shirts, it makes me smile every single time I feel the solidarity.

Part of what I feel is your support for the Dream I have been chasing so very long now. I started this Cuba Quest way back in 1978. 35 years now and I'm still a believer. The Dream is still alive. And it is most definitely Xtreme. I have frankly lost every vestige of bravado I might have once brought to it. Now I stand in front of this colossal challenge, gripped with awe and the realism so perfectly put by that little girl....probably impossible, but just might be possible.

But I think of YOUR Dreams when I see you in the Xtreme Dream gear as well. So many of you have shared with me your personal thirst to tap your potential. To do what makes you feel alive. To soar with the high that comes with utter commitment.

I applaud your Dreams. And I thank you for persevering with me as I try, One Last Time, to become the first to swim from Cuba to that faraway shore.

FYI, once the Cuba saga is at long last complete this summer, the next Xtreme Dream is planned for this coming Sept 30, Oct 1 & 2.

Oct marks the year anniversary of Hurricane Sandy.

To help those thousands of good people whose homes and lives were devastated in a matter of a few terrifying hours, people who are still suffering and a long way from recovery, we are swimming 48 hours in Herald Square in NYC for Hurricane Sandy Relief.

More details on the Big Buzz NY event, we are calling NYAD 48, later in the summer....how you can come do a few laps in the pool with me, how you can contribute to the cause....but for now, just know that 20% of all our Xtreme Dream merchandise proceeds (from the start of sales this week through the NYAD 48 event) will go directly to our Hurricane Sandy Relief Fund.

Enjoy your summers, all of you. And Dream. Dream inspired Dreams. Then go chase those Dreams with everything you have and know. ONWARD!!!!
